Old Town

The old district of Alfama, sitting on the hill facing the river, still exhibits strong references to maritime activities. Its inhabitants maintain a unique lifestyle, with a strong sense of community, influenced by the urban density and the narrowness of the streets, preserving this district like a small village inside the big city.

Key points:

- * Lisbon's Cathedral and Casa dos Bicos
- * Romans and Moors
- * Jews and forced converts persecutions
- * Maze-like streets
- * Hidden vantage points
- * The small village inside the big city
- * Fado - The soundtrack of Lisbon

Revelation Tour

Simply the first thing to do in Lisbon because it provides an all-in-one overview of the main city sites and some well kept secrets, exposing you instantly to the special atmosphere and authenticity that make up the character of this vibrant Atlantic city.

Key sites:

- * Praça do Comércio – the everlasting centre of power
- * Baixa – the new city built after the Earthquake
- * Restauradores / Av. Liberdade / Rossio
- * Iron Lift viewpoint – 360° view over the downtown
- * Largo do Carmo
- * Bairro Alto – the lively bohemian district
- * Chiado – the most elegant shopping area
- * Portas do Sol – a breathtaking view over Alfama
- * Includes free ride on Tram

Downtown

For centuries downtown Lisbon has been the heart of the social, commercial and spiritual life of the city, as much as the center of power of Portugal. The earthquake of 1st November 1755 turned it into ruins but provided the opportunity for an innovative reconstruction of the city's downtown area, long awaited.

Key topics:

- * The 1755 earthquake and the day after
- * The Roman salted fish factories
- * The Comércio Sq.: center of power
- * Rebirth of Lisbon: the dream of a city come true
- * A new city built on water
- * The birth of modern seismology
- * The hidden churches

City of Spies

Portugal remained neutral in the 2nd World War and Lisbon became a rendezvous spot for spies, taking advantage of the city's strategic Atlantic connections. Inside the city both the Allies and the Axis kept impressive diplomatic services: probably the only place in war-torn Europe where all sides were able to meet on equal grounds.

Key topics:

- * The most famous spy Hotels in Lisbon
- * The refugees and the European fashion trends
- * The lonely fight of the Portuguese consul in Bordeaux
- * The most important WWII double agent: Garbo/Arabel
- * The story of the real James Bond
- * The Jewish gold and the tungsten traffic

Legends & Mysteries

In addition to facts, the 3200 years of the city's historical records contain many secrets, legends and myths. On this walk you will delve into some of the most curious ones and will become acquainted with some of the most intriguing characters, including some of whom the city is not so proud of.

Key topics:

- * Ulysses - the founder of Lisbon ?
- * St. Vincent and the Ravens
- * The young martyrs of Lisbon
- * Saint Anthony, the matchmaker
- * Gusmão's flying device (the Passarola)
- * The murder of the Tavora family
- * The curse of Simão Sulim
